BILLIARD TABLES. LAZARUS & Co.'s Billiard Tables are uow the only ones approciated in India, as a long and steady experience extending over 50 years has proved them to be the best and most suitable for the climate. C. L. & Co, have received a large number of very flattering testimonials from all parts of India, China, Buimah, Ceylon, Manile, Java,

Straits, and Persia, testifying to the uperior make and quality of their Billiard Tables, and while thanking their Friends and Patrons in which have conduced to the success their efforts have hitherto met with. Every table is made of solid wood, well seasoned and not veneered.

The Cashions are constructed on an entirely new principle, introduced by O. L. and Co., and unlike that adopted by English makers, and are much more durable and lively than English-made cushions. No table leaves C. L. and Co.'s premises antil t has been standing ready finished for over 15

HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 4TH, 1874. THE correspondence which we reproduced yesterday from the northern papers concerning the dredging of the Woosung Bar, is eminently characteristic, and gives a very good insight into the peculiar nature of foreign relations, with the Chinese in such matters. It seems that the first survey of the bar which the local authorities at Shanghai forwarded to the capital to guide the high officials there in coming to a decision, was the result of the crudest guess work. The task was assigned to two civilian officers knowing nothing of maritime matters, and since 1858. they acknowledge that their information was based upon surmises, and the opinions of of the "Orown and Anchor Tavera" fishermen and farmers in the neighbourhood. Mr. MEDBURST, writing on behalf of the Consular Body at Shanghai, points out the defectiveness of such sources of information, and notices that the Thoutai at Shanghai the license of the Liver pool Arms ? had at his disposition the skill of a European granted. The difficulty in matters of this kind is chiefly to make the Chinese see clearly what the object and bearing of the proposed measure really are. The despatch from Mr. MEDHURST alludes to this in a way that is certainly as ingenious as it is delicate. He says, after urging that peace is the normal condition of nations, and during peace the interests of commerce ought to be considered paramount, that in the event of a war there would be nothing to prevent the Chinese replacing the bar. Of course the inference is obvious that in such an event it would be equally every for an enemy to remove it, a fact which is beyond dispute, and which no doubt the Chinese will duly objections are raised more with a view to finding out how the matter really stands than because they are fully convinced that any newslof the license of the "Hongkong Hotel" such danger as that which PRINCE KUNG gard as a fair and rational view. The Consuls at Shanghai have adopted this principle, and it is satisfactory to find that the result proves they were not wrong in concluding that the Chinese are not altogether unopen to reason, if matters be put before them in a plain and distinct light, while care is still taken to avoid a haughty or offensive tone, and going needlessly counter to their prejudices. Experience amply proves that, in negotiating with the Chinese, it is far better to press the question at issue temperately and judiciously from our own point of view than to endeayour to argue it out inch by inch from their premises, which they are always prepared to maintain with the greatest ingenuity, howover unfounded or defective they may be.

Upon seeing him Mr. Moses immediately bustened his stops and overtook him near New Bowery. He stopped him and said, " How do | chundise. you do." Mr. Kirstein replied that he had been in the city two weeks. Moses, after some further conversation, seeing that Kirstein was anxious to get rid of him, left and kept him in sight. A few moments later he saw a policeman, and knowing that a reward of 5.000 thalers had been offered for Kirstein's arrest. asked the officer to secure him. To this the policemun assented, after some conversation. and told Moses to get in front of Kirstein, by coing to the other side of the street, eaving. Moses started off to do as had been suggested, but presently saw that Kirstein had become suspicious, and was evidently trying to get to the Catherine-street Ferry, so be rapidly crossed the street again, and called on another officer whom he saw near by to arrest him, as he knew him to be a thief and a swindler. This officer at once took Kirstein into custody, and carried There Kirstein gave his name as Gustave. Hungary. Moses told the serjeant at the deak that he knew he was a fugitive from justice, and that he sould produce fifty men who could identify him, and that moreover, he had an official description of his person at his rooms. It was then decided to hold him. Yesterday morning Moses went to the station house with Mesars. Liwin. o Obrystie-street, Burkholz, of Orchard-street, and another, all of whom had known Kirstein personally in Germany, They found out upon their arrival that he was the man that Mones had said he was, and appeared to be much exetdown. He had sent for his uncle, a Mr. Kirsch, of No. 392, Bleecker-street, who had retained counsel for his defence. He was taken bufore United States Commissioner Stilwell, who told the officer that it would be necessary for the German Consul to make application to him to and thence before some legal authority. Nothing definite was done in the case, however, and he was again remanded to the custody of the police. The matter will be prought up again this
